

I'm a mother of two. My son the eldest nearly 3 and my daughter nearly 1.

With my son I breastfeed successfully for 1 year. I loved it but in hind sight I had a lot of unsupportive comments which led to me having an end date, I've missed breastfeeding him ever since. When I fell pregnant with my daughter I was so excited to do it again. At first with her I had trouble latching and mastitis a couple times and she had slow weight gain but with stepping back relaxing and finding my feet with being a mother of two (it's an emotional rollercoaster haha) we got there and I'm now happily breastfeeding again with no end time which is a great feeling.

I would love to try my best to help anyone in need I'm happy to meet with you or call, text, email which-ever way is most comfortable.
